PARTNERS BY DESIGN: Alpine Equipment and Western Pacific Storage Solutions Collaborate on Auto Dealership Project

Alpine Equipment is a full-spectrum provider of warehouse products and services to industry. When one of Colorado's premier Toyota dealerships was making a move to a new location, they selected Alpine to design a storage solution for their brand new on-site parts and service facility. Alpine Equipment, in turn, chose Western Pacific Storage Solutions' (www.wpss.com) Pacific shelving to play a major role in the auto dealership solution.

Alpine Equipment's Territory Sales Manager, Natasha Rollins set to work surveying the construction site, and envisioned a shelf-supported mezzanine (platform) structure with bar-grate flooring layout. In tandem with Western Pacific's engineering group, Natasha wanted to be sure that the final design would meet stringent code and safety standards.

With rock-solid seismic applications, OSHA and UBC/BOCA approved designs, industry-leading product testing, state-of-the-art manufacturing technology, and a quality assurance guarantee — WPSS was the perfect collaborator.

Natasha then selected Western's Pacific line of industrial shelving which is known for its structural stability, and convenient, interchangeable components. She stated, "Alpine Equipment (www.AlpineEquipCo.com) values partnering with Western Pacific because they are responsive, and swiftly resolve any strategic challenges that might arise."

When the job was completed, the award-winning dealership had a blue-ribbon auto parts storage solution, and was able to maximize usable floor space by building up, not out. Western Pacific's mezzanine (platform) designs can increase floor space by a maximum of 30%.

Natasha liked Pacific in this instance for its versatility and compression clip design. The Pacific line of shelving comes in both open and closed configurations. Pacific fit in with Toyota's décor via the matching end-panel surfaces.
